

The development of intelligent mobile home associated with the manufacturing process and hybrid platform incorporating its own media for digital communication (IoT structure) - IMH

Adria Home, manufacturing mobile homes, Ltd., Črnomelj, was the successful candidate in an open tender "Incentives for research and development projects" to carry out a project entitled "The development of intelligent mobile home associated with the manufacturing process and hybrid platform incorporating its own media for digital communication."

Consortium partners as the beneficiaries of funds are: Adria Home, manufacturing mobile homes, Ltd., ID INTERIER DESIGN Novo mesto.

The project will be implemented in the period from 7.2.2018 to 6.2.2020.

The purpose of the project is to develop a completely new product – Intelligent mobile home, which represents a transition to a higher price range, with a higher added value than existing products. New production processes will be developed which will be more efficient, with less consumption of raw materials, energy and working hours. The project is entirely based on the needs of the market and specifics and needs of end users. We joined the project in a comprehensive, multidisciplinary and in all areas simultaneously. Everything is directed at the user of the product taking into account the needs for an ecological developed product with low environmental footprint, low energy consumption, high quality of living and full use of modern communication technology.

The investment is co-financed by the Republic of Slovenia and the European Union from the European Regional Development Fund.
